THE RELEASE

Milena Milu returns with “Dictator”, a new single featuring Chilean vocalist Tatán González and producer Juri Naranjah. The modern roots reggae track is shaped by the raw, rebellious edge of Greek rebetiko. Heavy roots grooves meet the distinctive sound of the traditional bouzouki, while English and Spanish vocals explore power, rejection and resistance. As the track unfolds, it moves into a heavy dub section and turns into something closer to a street protest, with Chilean vocalist Tatán González delivering his final verses through megaphone-style vocals. The result brings roots reggae, dub and rebetiko together in a bilingual, cross-cultural production with a clear sense of tension and defiance.

ABOUT MILENA MILU

Milena Milu writes music about connection, belonging and the courage to stay compassionate in a complex world. Her sound moves between reggae and contemporary pop, shaped by personal experience and years of cross-cultural musical work. Her previous EP reached 569k Spotify streams without editorial playlist support; ‘Healing Child’ appears in around 1.5k listener-made playlists. Earlier highlights include supporting Junior Kelly & Fireman Crew and musical work in Ghana, including an album launch at the Goethe-Institut in Accra.
